

September 4, 2009

To: Nashville Volleyball Community

Announcing the formation of Alliance Volleyball Club

To advance the sport of volleyball in Middle Tennessee, at the direction of their respective managing boards, the Impact and Select Volleyball Clubs have decided to merge. This creates a unified club with expanded resources, combines the best of each club program and benefits players, their families and coaches by offering:

- Expanded programs for athletes, from recreational to elite competition
- More options for families based on their financial and time commitments
- A comprehensive package for the volleyball athlete including on-site fitness programs for strength and agility
- Higher level of competitiveness for the elite players
- Expanded skills training for the younger players new to the sport
- Proven success of two powerhouse programs for training and competition
- Improved systems for communicating games, practices and events
- Expanded internet services for registration, payments and "team pages"
- Coaches more levels to coach, more exposure
- 170,000 sq ft state of the art sports facility with ample courts, generous viewing areas and amenities for players and their families
- More tournament options

Tracey Berry will be the new club director for Alliance Volleyball Club.

Jay Golsteyn will be directing all of the volleyball operations for A-Game Sportsplex as well as coordinating all of the tournaments and events for Alliance Volleyball. He will continue to direct the boy's volleyball program.

We anticipate you will have many questions and we look forward to sharing more information about this exciting merger as plans are finalized. As a former Impact or Select club participant, please expect more information from Alliance Volleyball in the near future. Tryouts will be held in early November. If you can't wait for the next email, watch GoAGame.com for details as they happen.

